Regional Express scoops awards at TLISC events

By Doug Nancarrow

Regional Express starred at last week's Transport and Logistics Industry Skills Council (TLISC) awards in Melbourne.

The awards are intended to showcase notable achievements by organisations operating with the Transport and Logistics industries.

Rex took out the Award for Innovation and Excellence in Workforce Development in the Aviation sector, in recognition of the success of the airline's Australian Airline Pilot Academy, which was established in 2007 to ensure a supply of quality trained pilots.

Rex Operations GM Chris Hine accepted the prestigious award on the night.

But the night was not yet over and Rex was to feature again when one of its newly graduated pilots, Carl Riseley, took out the prize for TLISC Trainee of the Year, against an extraordinarily strong field with nominees from Maritime, Logistics & Warehousing, Road Transport and Rail.

Rex was also highly commended in the Chairman's Award.
